

SLO 3: Information Literacy

For the Annotated Bibliography, I had to move past basic searches and actually use the library databases to find peer-reviewed stuff that mattered. It was about filtering out the noise and finding sources that actually backed up my claims for the final essay. I learned how to vet a source for real credibility, not just take it at face value.